President Trippet, Dr. Ludwig Erhart, German Minister of Economics, and Eugene N. Beesley enter the Chapel before the 1959 Commencement.

President Trippet

In 1934, a young man returned to Wabash after three years spent in England under the auspices of a Rhodes Scholarship. Thus it was that Byron Trippet, having earned his master's degree in England, returned to his alma mater as Mr. Byron Trippet, instructor in history.

In 1939, this young history instructor began assisting the then Dean of the College, Dr. George Kendall. When advancing age and a desire to devote more time to study led Dr. Kendall to resign his administrative duties in 1941, his assistant became dean. Thus it was that Mr. Byron Trippet became Dean Byron Trippet.

In 1956, Frank Sparks, President of Wabash College for the past 14 years, resigned his post. The man who, for the last 15 years had admirably filled the office of Dean was selected to replace Dr. Sparks. Thus it was that Dean Byron Trippet became Dr. Byron Trippet, the President of Wabash.

Byron Trippet, now ending his fourth year as president of Wabash, is the only leader which the present student body has known. Nor is it likely that the Wabash community would want another man in the office which Dr. Trippet fills with such distinction.

President Trippet welcomes freshman John Strickland to Wabash.

It is not our purpose to reiterate the various laudatory remarks made about Dr. Trippet, but rather inter-relate the man and the school at a turning point in the history of Wabash. The Wabash community is now in the process of re-evaluating and restating its hopes and aspirations. It finds a succinct spokesman in the person of Dr. Trippet, embodying as he does the attitudes which have made the liberal arts college a valuable part of the American educational tradition.

While aware of the various claims about success in business and leadership of a free society, Dr. Trippet feels that the greatest benefit of a liberal education is to be found in the contribution which it can make to the "growth of an individual as a human being." The knowledge of self and mankind which can be gained in this manner is of an infinite value. Bearing this in mind, Dr. Trippet is firmly convinced that the liberal arts college need not fear for its future despite the trend to increased specialization and vocational education. Moreover, he does not regard science as the enemy of liberal arts, pointing out that here at Wabash the natural and physical sciences are an integral part of the modern education.

A vital part of the changing attitude at Wabash is the "new image" to which Dr. Trippet made reference in a trilogy of chapel talks in 1959. Commenting on the fact that Wabash has always enjoyed a good academic standing, he nevertheless recognizes that outside the Middle West this reputation has been largely confined to the academic world. The "new image" will establish Wabash as an institution of national stature while preserving its unique qualities. With diligent and unrelaxed efforts on the part of administration, faculty, alumni, and friends, Dr. Trippet is convinced that this goal could easily be realized by 1970.

It is with this goal in mind that Dr. Trippet will guide Wabash through the crucial years which lie ahead and which will mark a crossroads in the history of the college. These plans, first and foremost, restate the Wabash ideals of remaining a small, independent, liberal arts college for men. However, the Board of Trustees have proposed many changes for the college.

Although the college will retain much of its present character, definite plans include an increase of enrollment as well as an extensive building program. The most important feature of this "new look" will be the tripling of the endowment fund. This will provide for substantial increases in faculty salaries as well as a building program which will include new class buildings, recreational facilities ,a theatre, and improved housing. The changes which will be brought about as a result of this new policy will rest a heavy responsibility on the shoulders of President Trippet.

This is a time for vigorous action on the part of the Wabash community. It seems uniquely fitting that Byron Kightly Trippet should stand at the helm of his alma mater during this period. The leadership he provides, the inspiration he gives to the student body, the good-will he is daily gaining for Wabash—all make him an excellent representative of the ideals and qualities of Wabash. The faith which he displays in the liberal arts tradition and Wabash as a preserver of that tradition can only increase the stature of Wabash and the man to whom it means so much.

CAMPUS LIFE

Life at Wabash takes many forms. Regardless, each phase is permeated by a unique and intangible force—the "Wabash spirit." The newcomer quickly realizes that Wabash men believe in and follow a tradition not often found today—vigorous living.

Wabash men emerge from the Chapel after hearing Dr. McKinney and Wally Schnee jointly perform at the keyboard.

Woe be to the wayward rhyne who hopes to bluff his way through the sing.

the unique

With the no less penalty than a "letterman's haircut" for failing to know "Old Wabash" and "Alma Mater," the freshmen are brought to the steps of the Chapel to demonstrate their prowess. Under the supervision of the Senior Council, two sings are conducted in the fall. Each finds Senior Council members scurrying between the lines of singing rhynes in search of a faltering voice.

Jubilant rhynes celebrate their victory over the obnoxious sophomores.

wabash traditions

The Freshman-Sophomore Fight usually brings an end to the attempts of the Senior Council to integrate freshmen into the Wabash community. By this time the freshmen have seen an Iron Key game, gone to Homecoming in pajamas, seen the Monon Bell tussle, and are becoming aware of other parts of the Wabash tradition. The Fight climaxes an experience-laden fall for the freshmen.

the basic ingredient . . .

Here the Wabash man is at home. Many classes are informal, small, and conducted as seminars, enabling a direct exchange of information and ideas between students and faculty. Other classes, mostly for underclassmen, are designed to give the student a basic understanding of the several arts and sciences.

Many man-hours of work and concentration take place within the Library each week.

. . . work

The Wabash man realizes that there is no easy way to gain a liberal education. The mid-night oil burns in the dorms and fraternity houses as the pursuit of knowledge takes its most tangible form—study. The new Lilly Library affords an excellent source of research material and provides solitude for study.

The time-honored bull-session serves as a test of mental dexterity.

the emphasis: free discussion

Whether in the Scarlet Inn, a fraternity house, or a dorm, the validity of ideas is constantly being put to the test of discussion. Senior reading and the unique study camps are designed to increase the student's perspective in his own field and in general topics of interest. The Wabash emphasis is on freedom and intelligent inquiry.

Students and faculty take the opportunity to hear the sound of a flamenco guitar in a Yandes concert.

and self-cultivation

The Wabash man has a wide range of cultural opportunities available. Prominent theologians are brought to the campus under the auspices of a Lilly grant. Yandes art exhibits, formal and informal concerts, Scarlet Masque presentations, and the guests of various campus organizations all serve to enrich the years at Wabash.

Phi Gams and wives entertain youngsters at the Christmas party.

community service

Community service is also part of the Wabash tradition. Wabash men donate their time and money to the Heart Fund Drive, the Cancer Drive, and World University Service. Each Christmas Wabash fraternities entertain under-privileged children in the area at a Christmas party, complete with turkey dinner and presents.

and social life

The Wabash man, whether a senior trying to forget comps or an underclassman preparing for finals, takes a break on the second week-end of May for Pan-Hel. On Friday afternoon begin two days of picnics, dinners, parties, and dancing. Pan-Hel gathers the entire student body and faculty together under one roof for a week-end that defies words.

South

The walls of South Hall began to go up 123 years ago, constructed of bricks fired on the campus. The founders had dedicated the college near Sugar Creek northwest of Crawfordsville, but in the spring of 1835 the trustees bought the present campus and decided to move the college from its original site. The "College Edifice," the first building to be built on the new campus, was to be ready soon after school started in September of 1838. Less than two weeks after the semester opened, fire gutted the building during the night. The determination of the Wabash pioneers to rebuild inside the gutted walls of the building marks one of the crucial points in the college's early history.

This original building, which was to become known in the Twentieth Century and several metamorphoses later as South Hall, was quite different from the South Hall which was demolished this spring. The original was described by John D. Forbes, professor of history and architectural historian, who left the faculty in 1955: "It was a four-story brick building of New England provincial Georgian design with a central tower supporting a small steeple. End walls and fire walls were raised above the roof line and finished off in simple square step-gables, each containing two chimneys. The windows were square and simple, each spanning two stories and giving the building a vertical effect." The South Hall of this period is pictured in the well known lithograph, made in 1850, a copy of which hangs in the library.

At first the building housed practically the entire college; later it served only as a dormitory. In 1872 (about the time the campus was cleared of underbrush) Colonel Beebe Carrington, a Civil War teacher of military science and tactics who "suffered under the delusion of being an architect," was commissioned by the Board of Trustees to remodel the dorm and convert it into a preparatory school. The tower and steeple were removed; the vertical band of windows were replaced by separate windows framed in the style of Center Hall, which had been built in 1857. "The general lines were preserved, however," Professor Forbes wrote, "and the results could have been a great deal worse. The next step in the development of South Hall proved that the building could be very much worse looking indeed. The South Hall of this third phase is the depressing object which occupies the site at the present time, a shocking reminder of Victorian aesthetic judgement at its lowest ebb." This second remodeling of South Hall was executed in 1880; the four stories were remade into two, the gables remade, and the Roman portico added on the east side. This is the South Hall inherited by our own generation.

Professor Forbes was the campus crusader five years ago for undoing the mistakes of the intervening generations and restoring South Hall to the original style. It was his crusade that gave South Hall a stay of execution when plans for the new library were begun; had he not interrupted, the library would probably have been built on the site of South Hall. Restoration, according to one architect who examined South, is possible, but it would no doubt cost more than a new building.

And so, during the past spring, South Hall was demolished. There was no other course, but there can be no doubt that it was with regrets that the college found it necessary to destroy this bit of living history in order to continue progress toward the future.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

Here is the very heart of the College. The Wabash tradition would have long been lost but for its enthusiastic retention by the administration and faculty. It is with these men that Wabash will move forward in the sixth quarter-century of her history.

Mr. Harvey, Deans Rogge and Moore, and Dr. Bedrick take a mid-afternoon break in the Scarlet Inn.

Mr. Harvey, Registrar

ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Benjamin A. Rogge
Dean of the College

Dean Rogge

At the selection of Dr. Benjamin A. Rogge as Dean of the College five years ago, student opinion acclaimed the choice as a wise one. Combining the qualities of a diplomat, disciplinarian, and counselor, Dr. Rogge has demonstrated his ability to carry out the numerous duties of the Dean of Wabash College with rare wit and even temper.

Although the dean has a tight schedule, students find that his door is always open. The fact that students do feel free to discuss their problems, both academic and personal, with the dean has been the key factor for the excellent student-administration relationship, implicit in the Wabash tradition.

Dr. Rogge graduated from Hastings College and received his M.A. at the University of Nebraska. He received his Doctor's degree in economics at Northwestern University. After graduation Dr. Rogge taught at Northwestern and the University of Minnesota. He has taught in the Department of Economics at Wabash since 1949 and is currently an associate professor in that department. Dr. Rogge and Dr. VanSickle co-authored Introduction to Economics, a widely used college text.

Dr. Rogge is married and the father of five children.

Mr. Norman C. Moore
Dean of Students

Dean Moore

The Ivy League tradition in the office of the Dean of Students at Wabash College was reaffirmed last spring with the appointment of Mr. Norman C. Moore as Dean of Students. New to the ways of Wabash, Dean Moore has demonstrated a keen interest in the student life of the college, both extra-curricular and informal. He has made a challenging proposal to Wabash men in the area of financing extra-curricular activities and has reaffirmed the traditional "one rule" principle for student conduct.

Perhaps one of the biggest jobs facing any Dean of Students at Wabash is the assimilation of the freshman class. Dean Moore has not only done an excellent job in freshman counseling, but has successfully dealt with the large and small problems of the student body.

Mr. Moore received his A.B. degree from Princeton University and his M.A. from the University of Pennsylvania. Before coming to Wabash he was Assistant Dean of Students at Princeton. In addition to his office as Dean, Mr. Moore has assumed teaching responsibilities in the English Department. Mr. Moore is married and the father of one child.

BENNETT E. KLINE
Vice President and Director of P.D.P.

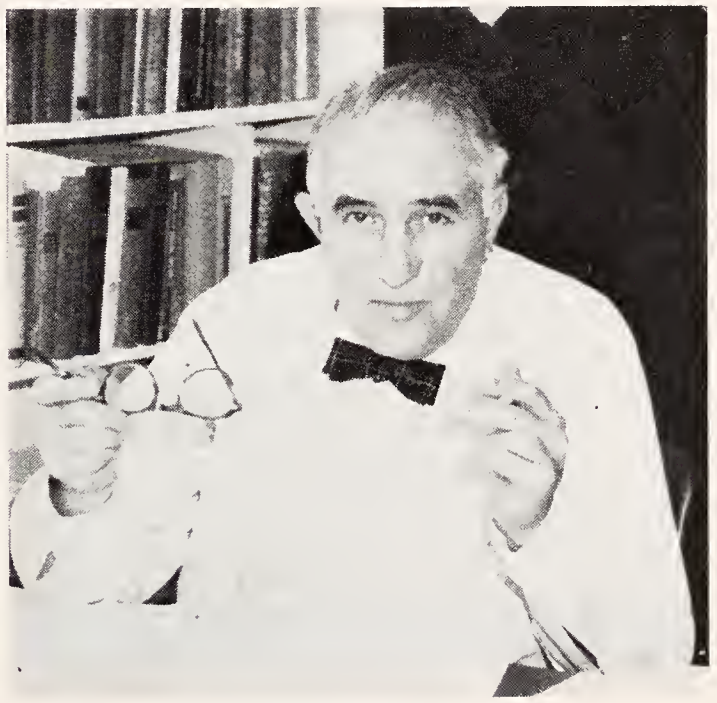
In his dual capacity Mr. Kline assists students with job placement as well as directing the summer Personal Development Program. A Wabash graduate, Mr. Kline has a wide and varied background including many years in industry, teaching English in public schools and teaching in the Department of Industrial Management at Purdue University. Mr. Kline is married and the father of three children.

ROBERT S. HARVEY
Registrar

Mr. Harvey serves the college as Registrar, Associate Professor of English, and informal publications advisor. A Wabash graduate, Mr. Harvey returned in 1941 after working with the Indianapolis Star for many years. He is a member and past president of Pi Delta Epsilon and the Indiana Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers. Mr. Harvey is married and the father of three children.

WILLIAM B. DEGITZ
Business Manager

In addition to his capacity as Business Manager, Mr. Degitz serves as Assistant Treasurer and Associate Professor of Economics. He is primarily responsible for the business transactions of the college. Before returning to his alma mater in 1955 Mr. Degitz received his M.B.A. from the Harvard Business School.



JAMES J. PATERSON
Director of Student Health Program and Housing

Mr. Paterson directs the student health program and arranges the student health insurance program. Among other responsibilities he directs the college dormitories and makes arrangements for Sophomore and Senior study camps. Mr. Paterson is an Associate Professor of Economics. He received his college training at Northwestern University and joined the Wabash faculty in 1927.

LOWELL H. HILDEBRAND
Director of Admissions

The important job of maintaining and increasing the high quality of entering freshmen belongs to Lowell Hildebrand. Although the busiest times of the year for his office are during spring vacation and Freshman Sunday, he is constantly traveling throughout the United States in search of exceptional talent. Mr. Hildebrand is ably assisted by Caroll Black and Austin Cole.

FERGUSON R. ORMES
Comptroller

In forty years of service to Wabash as Comtroller and Professor of Economics, Mr. Ormes has aided the college in many ways. As comptroller he has been responsible for the budgetary affairs of Wabash; as an economics professor he has taught many Wabash men what's what in finance.

MYRON G. PHILLIPS
Director of Alumni Affairs

A Wabash graduate, Mr. Phillips returned in 1927, taught in the Speech Department, worked as Assistant Admissions Director, and more recently became Director of Alumni Affairs. He is responsible for maintaining good alumni relations and keeping accurate records on each alumni.

DONALD E. THOMPSON
Librarian

Coming to Wabash in 1956 from Mississippi State College, Mr. Thompson is responsible for the proper functioning of the almost brand new Lilly Library. Mr. Thompson holds B.S. degrees from Iowa State and the University of Illinois and a M.A. from Temple University.

OMER FOUST
Director of Public Relations

In this newly created post, Mr. Foust is in charge of all news releases from the college, employing the services of the News Bureau. Mr. Foust is in charge of coordinating the use of Lilly Library and the Campus Center; he is also responsible for the publication of the Wabash Bulletin each month. Mr. Foust graduated from Wabash in 1942.

FINIS BURKHARDT
Superintendent of the Grounds

The college's physical plant is the responsibility of Mr. Burkhardt. The poor weather during the winter and spring, and the destruction of South Hall kept Mr. Burkhardt's staff busy this last year. Mr. Burkhardt, former Crawfordsville Chief of Police, came to the college in 1955.

Assistant Professor of Chemistry

A.B. Wabash; PhD. Northwestern Univ. Member: Sigma Xi, Kappa Sigma. At Wabash since 1956.

PAUL T. MIELKE, PHD.
Associate Professor of Mathematics

A.B. Wabash; Sc.M. Brown; PhD. Purdue. Member: Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Lambda Chi Alpha. Formerly taught at Brown, Purdue. At Wabash 1946-47, 1950-51, and since 1957. Married, three children.

CHARLES A. MILLER, PHD.
Assistant Professor of Biology

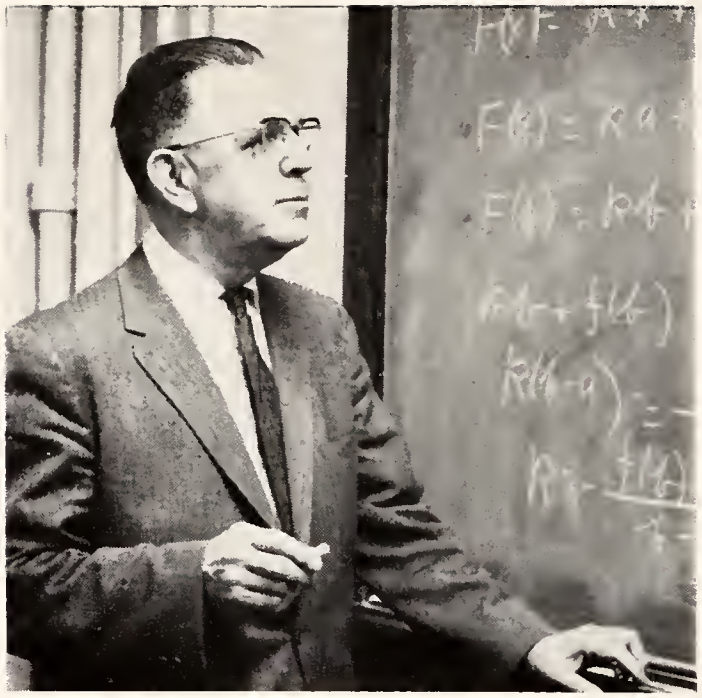
A.B. Wabash; PhD. Indiana. Member: Sigma Xi, The Biochemical Society (London), The Society of General Microbiology (London), American Association for the Advancement of Science. Currently studying nutrition of Paramecium and planarians. At Wabash since 1954. Married, three children.

QUENTIN R. PETERSEN, PHD.
Associate Professor of Chemistry

B.S. Antioch College; PhD. Northwestern Univ. Member: Sigma Xi, Phi Lambda Upsilon, American Chemican Society, The Chemical Society (London), American Association for the Advancement of Science. Current research in stereochemistry and steroid structure. Formerly taught at Northwestern, Wesleyan, and Trinity College. At Wabash since 1958. Married, one daughter.

ROBERT O. PETTY, M.S.
Instructor of Biology

B.S. Butler Univ.; M.S. Purdue. Member: Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Xi, Botanical Society of America, Ecological Society of America, Indiana Academy of Science. Currently studying ridge-forest community at Allee Woods. Formerly taught at Butler, Purdue. First year at Wabash. Married.



JOSEPH CRAWFORD POLLEY, PHD.
Chairman of the Mathematics Department
Thornton Professor of Mathematics
Secretary of the Faculty

A.B., A.M. Yale; Ph.D. Cornell. Member: Sigma Xi, Sigma Pi Sigma, American Mathematics Society, A.A.A.S. (Fellow), Indiana Academy of Science (Fellow), Indiana Council of Teachers of Mathematics, Mathematics Association of America (past member of Board of Governors). Formerly taught at Yale, Colgate, Cornell. At Wabash since 1929. Married, two children.

C. FRANCIS SHUTTS, PHD.
Assistant Professor of Botany

B.S. Arizona State Univ.; M.A. Claremont Graduate School; PhD. Indiana Univ. Member: Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Tau, Botanical Society of America, American Society of Plant Taxonomists, International Association of Plant Taxonomists, International Society of Plant Morphologists, Indiana Academy of Science. Formerly taught high School in Arizona, Indiana Univ. At Wabash since 1956. Married, five children.

ACTIVITIES

Although the Wabash man always has "five hour exams next week," he still finds the time and energy to participate in campus activities. Some organizations are demanding and require time and great effort on the part of the student; others require little of either. A wide range of opportunities is available to the Wabash man, according to his interests and abilities.

The 1960 Wabash Glee Club

HONORARIES

PHI BETA KAPPA

Election to Phi Beta Kappa is the highest scholastic honor which a Wabash man can attain. Beta chapter of Phi Beta Kappa was established in 1898, the forty-second chapter established including the original founding of the honorary in 1776.

The rigorous standards of Phi Beta Kappa include outstanding scholastic achievement and excellent moral character. Each year not more than twelve and one-half percent of the graduating class may be so honored. Juniors demonstrating an excellence in scholarship are also eligible, the number usually not exceeding two.

Seniors elected as Junior Phi Bets were John Johnson, Warren Hall, and Bob Ashman. The officers of Indiana Beta are: Dr. Henry Maxwell, president; Dr. Owen Dustin, vice-president; and Dr. John Charles, secretary-treasurer.

BLUE KEY

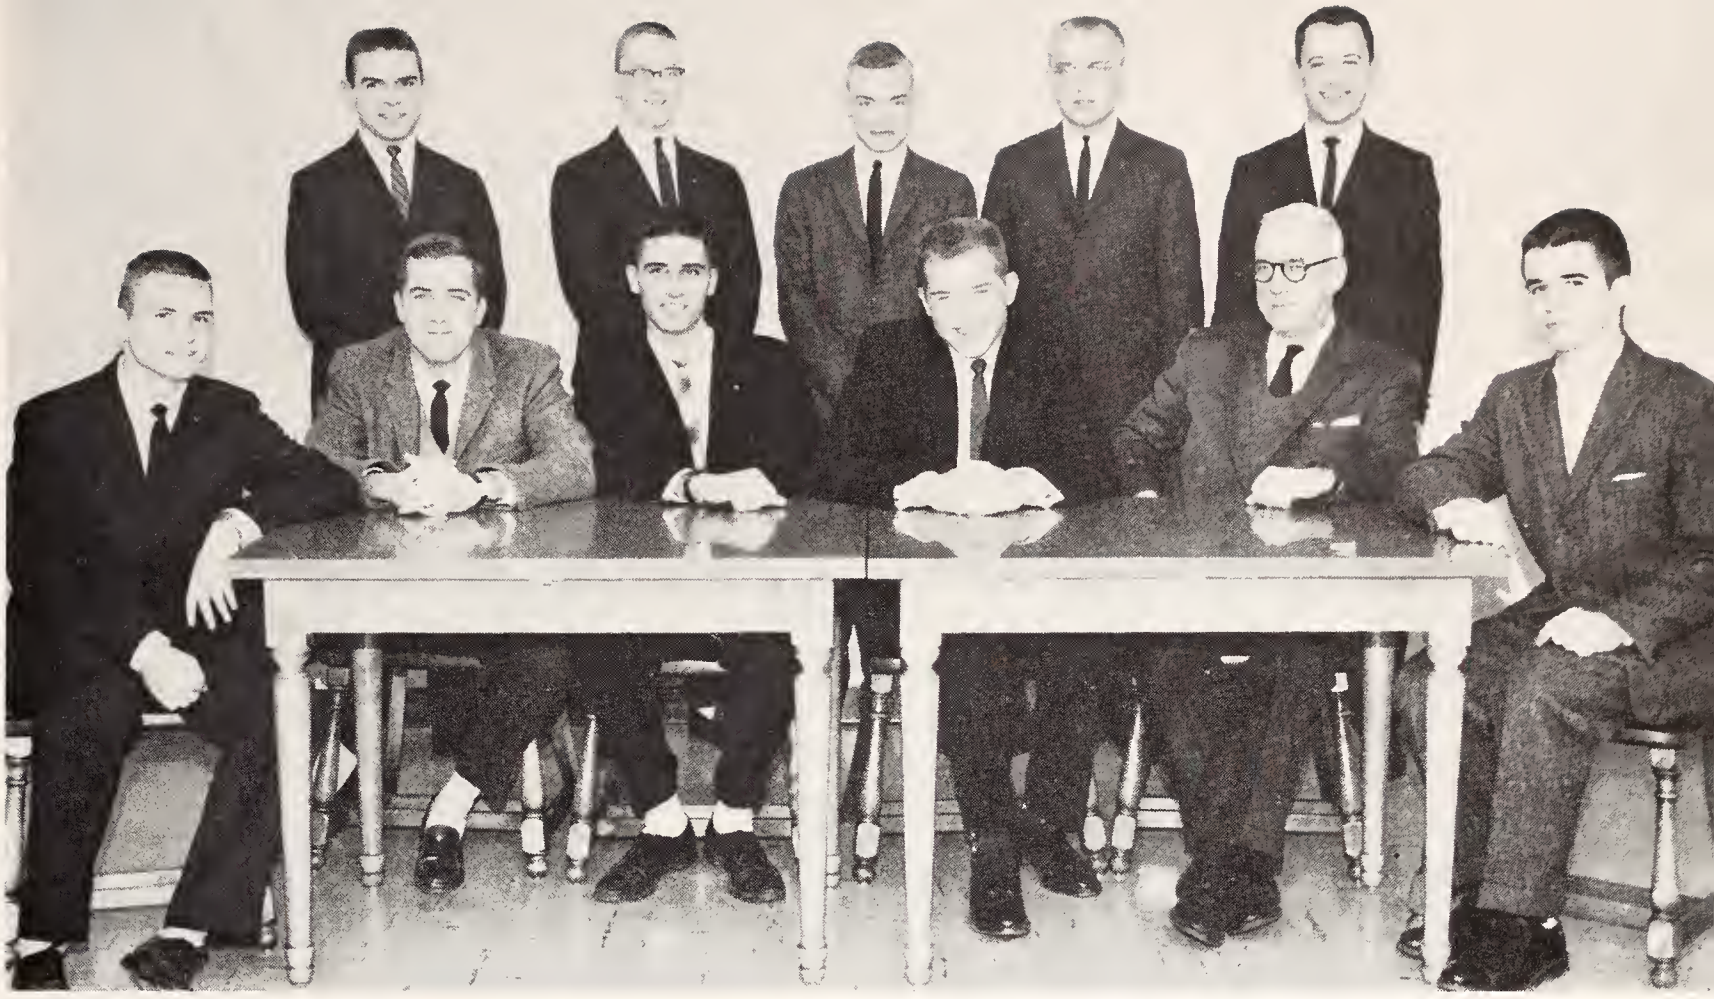
Blue Key is an honorary organization for campus leaders who have maintained respectable scholastic averages. Juniors and seniors having demonstrated proficiency in activities, scholarship, and athletics are eligible for membership. Not more than ten per cent of any class may be elected. With the discontinuation of Stunt Night and For Men Only, Blue Key is not active at the present time. President of the organization is Dave Kohne. Members pictured above are: front row—John Johnson, Dick Kite, Jerry Augburn; second row—Dave Kohne, Fred Scott, Dave Ammerman.

Delta Phi Alpha

Election to Delta Phi Alpha, national german honorary, requires that a student demonstrate a definite interest as well as academic superiority in German. Pledgeship is preceded by two years of German with at least a B plus average and membership in the German Club. Dr. Joseph Height serves as faculty advisor and Bob Kryter was president of Gamma chapter. Members pictured are: first row—Don Buell, Jerry Barton, John Johnson, Fred Ruebeck, Len Larson, Bob Kryter, Lee Jones, Dennis Smith; second row—Dr. Height, Dave Kohne, Walter Bridgewater, Tom Gaisser, Jim Wells, Jim Cumming, John Staples, Roger Morehouse, Phil Vincent, Dave Bohlin, Bob Jones.

Eta Sigma Phi

Eta Sigma Phi, the national classical honorary fraternity, elects students demonstrating scholastic superiority in Latin or Greek. To be eligible for membership, a student must be enrolled in the fourth semester college course in Latin or Greek, maintain an all-college average and an all-classics average of at least B. Dr. Charles served as faculty advisor and Warren Hall as president. Members pictured are: first row—Dr. Bedrick, Warren Hall, Bill McPherson, Dr. Charles; second row—Norm Rowe, Gary Parker, Dave Behling, Mr. Stodgehill, Charlev Ligon.



Pi Delta Epsilon

Pi Delta Epsilon is composed of those men most active in the various campus publications. The Wabash chapter, of the oldest collegiate honorary journalism fraternity in America, was established in 1923. Mr. Harvey is advisor to the group and John Johnson served as president. Members pictured are: first row—John Johnson, Tim Conlon, Dave Bohlin, Jerry Augburn, Mr. Harvey, Dave Ammerman; second row—Austin Brooks, Rusty Duvall, Bob McElroy, Fred Ruebeck, Dave Boyd.

The DePauw-Wabash Sigma Xi Club was established in 1944. It is composed of faculty members of Wabash and DePauw who belong to the national society, graduates in the area with an interest in science, and senior science students who have at least a 2.5 average in their major. Members pictured are: first row—Bob Kryter, Phil Vincent, Dick Spindler, Dick Kite, Bob Neal, Bob Stambaugh; second row—Ted Wiese, Roger Morehouse, Lee Jones, Milt Block, Ed Johnson.

Sigma Xi

Sigma Pi Sigma

Sigma Pi Sigma is a national physics honorary for under-graduates who have a three semester average in physics of 2.5 and a 2.0 cumulative. Initiates must prepare a ten minute paper on some aspects of physics. Advisor to the group is Dr. Henry, and Bob Kryter served as president. Members pictured are: first row—Mr. Broshar, Dr. Weaver, Roger Morehouse, Bob Kryter, Phil Vincent, Dr. Henry; second row—Dave Bohlin, Milt Block, Ted Wiese, Lee Jones, Joe Mate, Jim Wells, Fred Ruebeck, Jim Nichols, Bob Jones.

TKA is a national honorary for men especially interested in speech. Two years participation in debate of Speakers Bureau is requisite for membership. In addition the candidate must be in the upper one-third of his class. Dr. Vic Powell serves as faculty advisor. The sole member pictured below is Bob Jones.

Tau Kappa Alpha

Alpha Phi Omega

Former Boy Scouts are eligible for membership in Alpha Phi Omega. The purpose of the organization is to serve the college and community. This past year APO moved the art collections from Yandes to Lilly Library, ushered at Scarlet Masque productions, and provided leadership training for scouts in the area. Each year APO decorates the campus at Christmas. Dr. Haenisch serves as faculty advisor. Members pictured above are: first row—John Hays, Joe Barnette, Dick Stephenson, Tom Lauritzen, Tim Steele, Jim Hutcheson; second row—Steve Waymire, Holland Thompson, Terry Anderson, Larry Coffey, Bob Ashman, Rolf Amsler.

First semester staff: seated—Fred Scott, Dave Ammerman, Dave Boyd, Tom Gaisser; standing—Dave Schneider, Lee Andreas, Mal Young, Jim Daniel, Dave Rogge, Bob Jones, Tom Sinex, John Birdzell.

THE BACHELOR

In its fifty-first year of publication, the Bachelor continues to be the sounding board for student, faculty, and administration opinion, as well as an accurate source of current Wabash news. The competition is usually keen for the various sports, editorial, news, and feature positions, resulting in a high quality publication which is entirely student operated.

Student, faculty, and editorial opinions were voiced on such divergent subjects as Wabash "status," a proposed athletic conference, Populism, communism in undeveloped countries, and a Spencerian solution to extra-curricular activities problems. A satirical diatribe by Tim Conlon was perhaps the most amusing original student writing to be found on Bachelor pages this year. After an absence of one year the Danny reappeared, forerunning the Wabash-DePauw game.

Editor the first semester was senior Dave Ammerman; second semester the staff was headed by junior Dave Boyd. The business staff, providing the bulk of the funds to meet operating expenses, was headed by Mal Young and Jim Daniel, first and second semesters respectively.

Wabash staff: seated—Jim Daniel, Dave Schneider, Rusty Duvall; standing—Daryl Carpenter, Dave Rogge, Lee Andreas, Tom Brewer.

THE WABASH

The planning of the 1960 Wabash began in the summer with the preparation of a dummy after a conference with the engraver. The first test of the yearbook staff was the scheduling of pictures; this feat was performed by picture editor Jim Daniel with the assistance of Dave Rogge. While the photographs are at the engravers, the copy is written. The most difficult section to write is that of sports; sports editor Rusty Duvall assisted by Lee Andreas ably handled this job. At the same time picture identification, faculty research and activities research is necessary; Jack Dawson, Dave Grandstaff, and Daryl Carpenter put in many hours in this capacity. The final stages are activities copywriting, revision, and proof-reading. Larry Kincaid served as feature editor and assisted in copywriting along with Dave Schneider and Tom Brewer.

Although not closely connected with the actual making of the yearbook, the business staff keeps the yearbook from being a financial dodo. As business manager, Dave Rose brought the financial assets to an unexpected level with the help of his staff.

NEWS BUREAU

The News Bureau is a student operated organization which supplies information to wire services and newspapers concerning Wabash College and students.

The principle job of the bureau is to cover sporting events and prepare releases. In this function the News Bureau works in close connection with the new Office of Public Relations. Equally important are the releases made to home town newspapers about students that have gained special recognition.

The bureau was headed for the second straight year by John Stiles, with the able assistance of sportswriter Fred Scott. The most apparent result of the work of the bureau and publicity office was the excellent job of coverage given Wabash in the NCAA small college basketball tournament. Students working on the Bureau pictured below are: Len Clark, Bill Lowrey, John Stiles, Mike Davis, and Neil Thompson.

BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS

The Board of Publications, consisting of four upperclassmen and three faculty members, is the governing body for student publications. The Board is responsible for selecting qualified men to edit The Bachelor and The Wabash. The main function of the Board is to pass upon budgets for The Bachelor and The Wabash, and from time to time allocate money for other publications such as this year's Wabash Review, edited by John Stiles. The president of Pi Delta Epsilon serves as chairman of the Board; John Johnson held the office during the past year. Mr. Harvey and Mr. Mitchum serve as secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the group.

SENIOR COUNCIL

The Senior Council serves as an informal student governing body. Its activities are primarily directed toward freshman orientation, being responsible for the formulation and enforcement of Rhynie rules; the two "sings" and the Freshman-Sophomore fight are also under its direction and regulation.

Council activities, however, do not end with the freshman class. It is in charge of Homecoming and the budget for campus activities. In addition, the body is gradually assuming a greater degree of responsibility and power in its role as intermediary between administration and students.

The group is composed of a senior from each fraternity and four independents. The president of this year's council was Warren Hall. Other officers were: Dave Kohne, vice-president; Al Huff, treasurer; and Dave Ammerman, secretary.

Given the task of administering the new activities fee, the prestige and influence of the Council has increased greatly. It is growing more and more to resemble the effective student governing body that many members of the Wabash community feel would be a valuable asset to the College.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

Despite the criticism that this body is merely a figurehead, it continues to direct two of the most important annual events at Wabash: the Mother's Day Sing, for which it awards a trophy to the outstanding fraternity song team, and the Pan-Hellenic dance; the theme selected for the 1960 version of Pan-Hel was "The Old South." The Council also awards the coveted Scholarship Trophy each semester to the fraternity maintaining the highest average among its members; another trophy is awarded to the top fraternity freshman class for scholarship

This year's Heart Fund Drive, directed by the IFC, collected over $1300, and a schedule of pledge class exchange dinners was set up, proving to be very successful. Similar fraternity exchanges also created enthusiasm.

Wabash was represented at the National Interfraternity Council Convention by the officers of the Council. Officers this past year were: president, Joe Sabatini; vice-president, Jay Moore; and secretary-treasurer, Jim Mewhinney.

It should be apparent that the IFC is a very active representative body, performing vital and valuable functions while its power over the various fraternities is slight, its influence is great and an essential part of the Wabash community.

CAMPUS CENTER BOARD

The Campus Center, perhaps the most attractive building on campus, is the activity center of the College. Each year it is available for dances, dinners and meetings of various organizations of the Wabash community. Making the most efficient and valuable use of the Center is the job of the Campus Center Board.

One of the cultural contributions the group made was the initiation of a series of concerts of recorded music in the small lounge of the Center. They also purchased a cinemascope lens and screen to be used in the showing of recent movies to the student body. The five members of the Board are pictured below: first row—Fred Schue, Bob Jones, Mal Young; second row—Dave Rogge and Bob Ashman.

ORGANIZATIONS

SCARLET MASQUE

Under the able direction of senior Thom Schmunk, the Scarlet Masque enjoyed its best season in over a decade. For the first time in its history, the Masque was under no direct faculty supervision, yet managed to put on five productions that the Wabash community will remember for many seasons.

The dramatic season began in a display of new talent with "The Rainmaker," a romatic comedy, by Richard Nash. After this initial effort, the Masque proceded with its traditional output in the classical realm. Dr. D. W. Baker directed Moliere's "Imaginary Invalid," a medical farce of the seventh century. "Streetcar Named Desire," by Tennessee Williams, was produced in February in co-operation with the Crawfordsville Dramatics Club. This tradgedy of the dying south was certainly one of the most overpowering productions of the season. With the set struck from "Streetcar," the Masque gained production rights for the American premier of the Eric Bentley translation of Pirandello's "Henry the Fourth." Being an internal drama, this play provided a crucial test for an organization that usually encounters traditional plays. Ending the season on a light note, the Masque offered Von Druten's "Bell, Book, and Candle" to an enthusiastic commencement audience.

The Masque was especially fortunate this year with the superior acting of senior Ron Sommer and sophomore Pack Carnes. A note of congratulations must also be offered to Irene Mitchell, Sonni Crawford, and Nancy MacDaniel for the invaluable assistance in the required female roles.

The set and construction crews did fine work, as was quickly apparent. Congratulations go to Thom Schmunk for his diligent and brilliant directing throughout the season.

GLEE CLUB

Readily acknowledged as one of the outstanding singing groups of the Midwest, the Wabash Glee Club may compliment itself upon the completion of another highly successful seasons.

One of the best of their performances was the joint concert with Ohio Wesleyan on Homecoming Week-end. The Glee Club schedule, which takes them into several states, continues to enhance and expand their reputation and with it the reputation of Wabash College.

Under the skilled direction of Robert Mitchum, the Glee Club has been and will continue to be a valuable part of the Wabash tradition. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchum played host to the entire group at an open house following the annual Christmas concert. Ending the year in a flurry of activity, the Glee Club participated in the campaign of the Republican primary candidate for governor of Illinois and then returned to campus for the annual spring concert.

Officers this year were: president, John Bachman; vice-president, Jerry Barton; secretary-treasurer, John Peters.

The second musical group to which Bob Mitchum lends his able direction, is the Wabash band. The last few years have been marked by a steady improvement in the caliber of this organization and this year was no exception. Two fine chapel performances give tangible witness to the progress that the band has made. Their repetoire includes both spirited marches, exidenced by the enthusiasm they engender at athletic events, and an increasing body of program music.

This year the band journeyed to Evansville to give moral support to the basketball team. Undoubtedly their playing made the Little Giants feel more at home.

Although a still somewhat informal group, the prestige of the band has increased greatly through hard work and determination on the part of all members and the gifted leadership and wit of Bob Mitchum.

The debate team enjoyed highly successful season this year with a 35-13 record. The topic debated was—Resolved: That the Congress of the United States should have the power to reverse decisions of the Supreme Court.

Arguing the positive position were the two teams of Len Clark—Earl Arnett and John Price—Vance Waggoner; arguing the more difficult negative position were three teams: Dave Ammerman – George Gessler, Milt Brooks—Mead Killion, and Larry Ulrich—Dick Hummel.

Highlighting the season was the victory scored in the Butler Tournament with a 7-1 record. Only three members of the team graduate, with six of the remaining seven men freshmen. Vic Powell ably coaches the debators.

An organization founded in 1927 by W. Norwood Brigance, the Speakers Bureau was the first such organization in the United States and has served as a model for similar institutions. The Bureau supplies speakers and discussion groups to church groups, women's clubs, service groups, and other organizations for a token fee.

Members are products of the Wabash Department of Speech with exceptional ability, and present programs from thirty to sixty minutes long on every imaginable subject. The purpose of the Bureau is to give interested students an opportunity to speak to live audiences off campus.

SPEAKERS BUREAU

INDEPENDENT MENS ASSOCIATION

The Independent Men's Association (IMA) is one of the most active and strongest organizations on campus. It is composed of non-fraternity men who unite to organize social life. The IMA sponsors a well-attended campus wide dance at Homecoming in October; other dances are sponsored throughout the year for members. The IMA also fields a Mother's Day song team and decorates a booth for Pan-Hel.

During the first semester the officers were: Darrell Dick, president; Jim Ketchen, vice-president; Paul Meltzer, secretary; John McKeever, treasurer. Elected to spring officer post were: Tom Feit, president; Carlos Carroll, vice-president; Dave Wilson, secretary; and Phil Shuman, treasurer.

W-MENS CLUB

The W-Men's Club is composed of men who have earned a letter in a varsity sport. The men in red sweaters are seen every home football game selling programs, sun visors, etc., to help defray athletic expenses. The major activity which the club performs is the sponsorship of the Sweetheart Dance. Through the efforts of the W-Men, the February week-end has turned into a major campus-wide social event. Scotty Polizotto led the W-Men as president during the past year; Rod Grove and Tom Bennett served as vice-president and treasurer, respectively.

SPHINX CLUB

The Sphinx Club is a national honorary for athletes; at Wabash outstanding participation in campus activities can also make a man eligible for membership. The club is noted for its strenuous initiation and members are distinguished by the presence of dirty white caps. The various benefits of being a Sphinxer include biennial dinners and informal get-togethers at various houses. President of the Club this year was Jim Price; vice-president was John Johnson and Dave Kohne served as treasurer.

Will Hays Club

The members of the Will Hays Club, or Young Republicans, are united by a common belief in the ideals of the GOP. The Club was threatened with expulsion from the state organization for bucking the state "machine," and helping to beat same in a midwest organizational convention. Milt Brooks courageously led the group as president. First row—Larson, Emmitt, Burns, McCoy, Rogge, Stephenson, Tipton, Wyatt, Talbott. Second row—Nigh, Monroe, Martz, Coons, Acton, Robbins, Sinex, Rogers, Hays, Schuman, Downen, Fewell, Richmond, Hartberg.

Young Democrats on the Wabash campus are united into an active organization through the Tom Marshall Club. Highlighting the year was the Mock Convention held on April 9th, which nominated Adlai Stevenson for the presidency. Senator Vance Hartke was a guest speaker during the fall and Congressman Joseph Barr was keynote speaker at the convention. Otto Schug served as president. First row—Ulrich, Hochensmith, Bridgewater, Stephenson, Jones, Mate. Second row—Toll, Schug, Dickerson, Dimitroff, Behling.

Tom Marshall Club

Dames Club

The Dames Club is an organization composed of wives of married Wabash men. Monthly meetings serve to keep the female members of the Wabash community in close contact. The activities of the ladies include an annual cookie sale and a bridge party for the faculty wives. Mrs. Bahr was president during the past year; Mrs. Spilman served as vice-president, Mrs. Schmitt as treasurer, and Mrs. Souders as secretary. First row—Mrs. Hall, Mrs. White, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Bedrick, Mrs. Rogge, Mrs. Ducat, Mrs. Jean Carroll, Mrs. Bahr, Second row—Mrs. Marty Carroll, Mrs. Cutler, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Schug, Mrs. Stiles, Mrs. Gough, Mrs. Souders, Mrs. Richey, Mrs. Folta, Mrs. Spilman, Mrs. Schmitt, Mrs. Misch, Mrs. Barnett.

The German Club is an organization of students interested in the German language and culture. Regular and special meetings include films, student presented projects, and the annual fall picnic, given to the singing of German songs and soccer. Faculty advisor to the group is Mr. Russell, and the president was Len Larson, First row—Mate, Hitchcock, Kropp, Coffey, Thireos, Doherty, Endicott. Second row—Kitterman, Emmitt, McCoy, Shanholtzer, Monroe, Larson, Acton, Wyatt. Third row—Waggoner, Pollit, McCully, Bridgewater, Price, Ulrich, Mr. Russell, Sinex, Reglein, Richmond, Lentz, Hartberg.

German Club

Conservation Economics Club

The Conservative Club, a new organization on campus, traces its origin to and functions solely on student enterprise. The purpose of the group is to bring to campus qualified men to discuss and speak on current economic problems. During the past steel strike, representatives of both labor and management spoke to the group. First row—Lesniak, Larson, Stephenson, Wyatt, Thompson. Second row—Waymire, Erickson, VanHorne, Brandt, Evans.

The Radio Club is an organization of students interested in sharing knowledge of electronics and radio. The club owns a 150 watt single sideband transmitter, a 65 watt AM transmitter, and a Heathkit Commanche receiver; meetings are held in Goodrich Hall, where the equipment is housed. Officers during the past year were: president, Jim Nichols; vice-president, Fran Nordmeyer; and secretary-treasurer, Bob Kryter. John Staples is at the mike as Nordmeyer and Nichols look on.

Radio Club

Public Affairs Forum

The Public Affairs Forum is a non-partisan organization of Wabash men interested in politics, national and international affairs. Under the auspices of PAF prominent political figure on the state and national level are brought to campus. Among the guests speakers this year were Congressman John Brodemas from the third district and ex-communist Joseph Kornfedder. Dr. Phil Wilder serves as faculty advisor to the group. President during the past year was Dave Behling. Members pictured are: First row—Stephenson, Ulrich, Wyatt, Talbott, Monroe, Coons, Dimitroff, O'Brien; Second row—Pollit, Price, Hays, Thomas, Killion, Burns, Brooks, Hochensmith, Schug, Sedillo.

A new organization on campus, the Philosophy Club, is designed to interest those whose fields cross with philosophy as well as men specifically interested in philosophy. Various faculty members have presented papers to the group. Dr. Cotton serves as informal advisor and Ralph Thomas served as chairman during the past year. First row—Colvin, Shaud, Hoss, Thomas, Meltzer, Holm, Second row—Bachman, Mottern Waymire, Kite, Dr. Cotton, Guthrie, Todd, Bentley.

Philosophy Club

Student Christian Federation

The Student Christian Federation is a non-denominational group of students of all faiths devoted to Christian fellowship. Every other Sunday evening a guest speaker addresses the group. Following the talk, a discussion period insues, giving any student a chance to express an opinion or ask questions. Guest speakers this year included Drs. McKinney and Cotton. Steve Waymire served as first semester president and was succeeded by Phil Holliday in the second semester. Members of the group pictured above are: First row—Rogge, Templin Thomas Hays, Brooks; Second row—Shaud, Waymire, Bohlin.

Methodist Student Movement

The Methodist Student Movement is an affiliate of the S.C.F. and is composed of Methodist students at Wabash. Throughout the year the group sponsors speakers to give members a chance to learn more about their religion. Members during the past year were Charles Shanholtzer, Milt Brooks, Bruce Monroe, Walt Bridgewater, Phil Rogers, and Barry Burke.

Cantebury Club

Episcopal students at Wabash are organized into the Canterbury Club, an affiliate of the S.C.F. The purpose of the organization, in its third year of existence, is to give Episcopal students a chance to meet members of their own faith on and off campus. Members during the past year were Holland Thompson, Earl McGimpsey, Bob Leonard, and Park Powell.

College Club

The College Club is composed of Wabash Presbyterians and is an affiliate of the S.C.F. The group, a member of the Indiana Collegiate Westminister Fellowship, conducts regular meetings at which leading churchmen discuss subjects of theology. Members during the past year were Tom Feit, Neil Thompson, Tom Bentley, John Harsha, Harry Lindsey, Paul Meltzer, John Hays, Bob Ashman, Charles Bahr, Bill Buser, and John Campbell.

Newman Club

ATHLETICS

Athletics at Wabash are an integral part of the liberal education. The athlete, whether varsity or intramural, does not stand apart from the student body, but is the student body. A unique and colorful athletic tradition stands behind the words "Wabash always fights" and "Little Giants." The "Wabash spirit" is most clearly manifested on the athletic field and in the stands.

With Scott Polizotto leading the way, Jack McHenry looks for daylight around right end against Butler's Bulldogs.

With the advent of fall, the Wabash community turns out "en masse," braving the cold and rain, on Saturday afternoons to witness Big Red do battle at Ingalls Field. On paper the team looked good—a fair-sized and experienced front wall, a young but talented backfield, and depth on the bench. Hit with key injuries, the squad closed with a 3-5-1 record.

An early injury to starting quarterback Rudy Folta forced coach Frazier to switch sophomore Jack McHenry to the barking post. Senior Scotty Polizotto and McHenry shared the quarterbacking duties after Folta's injury. Spelling the hard-hitting junior Joe Sabatini at fullback were junior Jay Moore, sophomore Larry Ritzenthaler, and freshman Dave Anderson. Running from the half-back slots were starting sophomore Dick White, junior Mike Hughes, sophomore Jim Hamsher, and fresh-

Two-platooning frequently, coach Frazier relied on nineteen linemen. Up front the mainstays were Seniors Rod Grove and Dan Remley; Juniors Carlos Carroll, Roger Carroll, Vince LeDonne, Doug Glock, Brian Bragg, Ron Ritter, John O'Neill, Denny Holmes, Paul Olexia, and Bob Panzer; Sophomores Gene Blackburn, Gary Byers, Vic Schiralli, Dick Stanton, George Yurek and Freshman Hank Rodgers and Jim Endicott.

Opening day found Wabash pitted against an inexperienced Kalamazoo squad. Coach Garland Frazier's men showed promise in gaining a "team" victory. Starting halfbacks McHenry and White each scored once. The second unit saw plenty of action, with Jim Hamsher and Mike Hughes each crossing the goal-line. The final score stood 27-7, Wabash.

Brian Bragg leaps high to pull in a McHenry aerial in the Valparaiso game.

On a rainy, windy afternoon Tony Hinkle's blue and white Butler Bulldogs ended Wabash's undefeated season. For three quarters Big Red played a helluva football game before succumbing to Butler's speed and depth. Butler initiated the scoring late in the first quarter, picking up seven points. In the opening minutes of the second quarter a Wabash fumble led to another Butler touchdown, making the score 14-0. White then took the kickoff to the Wabash 43. Wabash quickly retaliated with a 57 yard march led by a 35 yard pickup on an option play off the right side of the Butler line by Folta. McHenry and Sabatini moved the ball to the one yard line where Folta went in for the touchdown on an option play to the right. McHenry added a two point conversion on a run around right end, bringing the score to 14-8. For the remainder of the first half and the third quarter, the Wabash front wall held the Bulldogs, in a sterling defensive effort led by Bragg. Midway in the third quarter Wabash penetrated to the Butler 25 yard line only to have an intercepted pass stop the drive. In the fourth quarter a fleet Butler backfield asserted itself and pushed across two touchdowns to clinch the contest. Final score: Butler 28, Wabash 8.

Taking to the road the Little Giants traveled to Washington of St. Louis in search of victory number two. Washington grabbed a quick 14-0 lead in the first quarter. A White to McHenry aerial with McHenry adding the two-point conversion quickly brought Big Red back into contention. Sabatini, finding a hole score and White put Wabash in the lead, 15-14 with a PAT. Wabash hopes were lost when John Claiborne kicked a last minute field-goal to give the Bears a 17-15 victory.

Traveling to Hope College, the Little Giants found themselves in the hole after three quarters, trailing 19-0. Regrouping forces, Big Red put on a fourth quarter offensive flurry. White raced into the end-zone for the first Wabash score; McHenry added six more points, but the early Hope lead proved to be too great as time ran out. Final: Hope 19, Wabash 13.

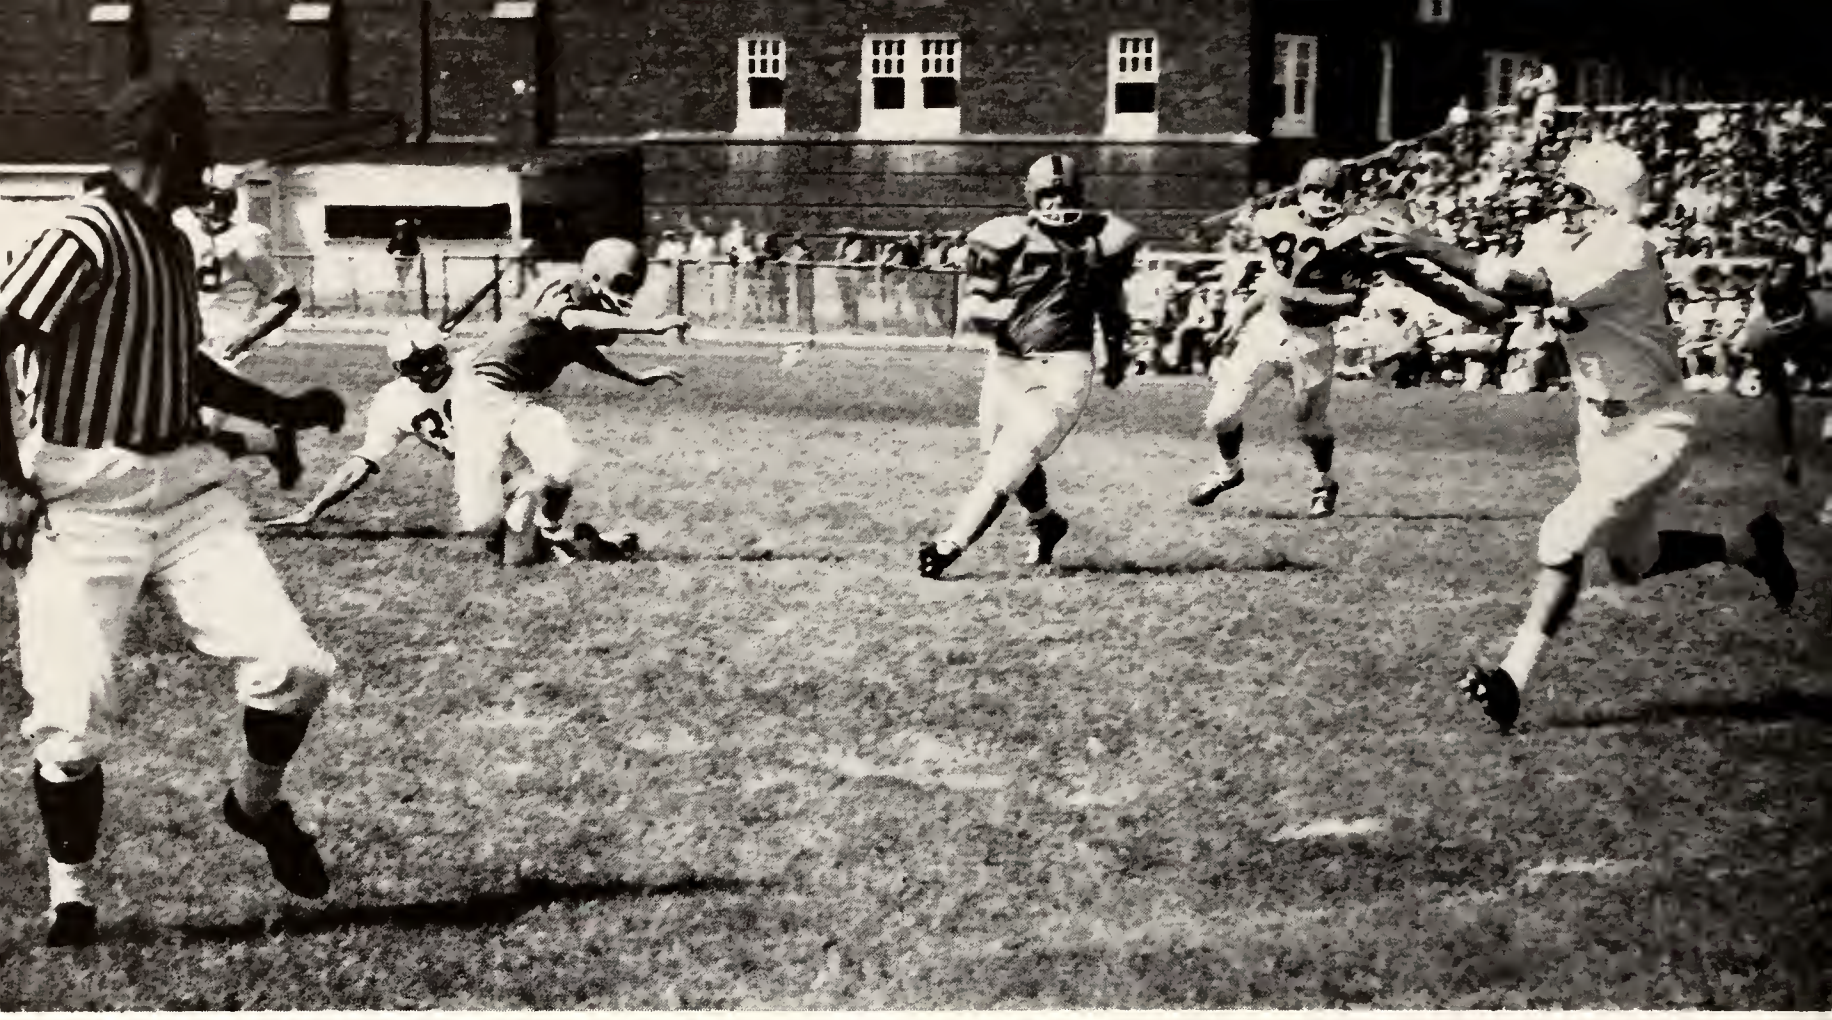
Returning home for Dad's Day, Big Red handed Hanover a 12-7 defeat. In gaining the second victory of the season Wabash pulled a victory out, after a sluggish first half and trailing late in the game. The Little Giants recovered their own on-side kick-off on the Hanover 43 and moved to the 15 before the threat bogged down. The remainder of the first quarter was played between the thirty yard lines. The alternate unit started the second quarter by stopping Hanover cold on the Wabash 32 and moving 68 yards in six plays for the first Wabash touchdown. Dave Anderson picked up 19 yards on three carries and Scotty Polizotto tossed to George Yurek for the score; a two-point conversion attempt failed. Late in the second quarter, Hanover surprised Big Red with a touchdown and extra-point with only 0:04 left in the half to take a 7-6 lead. Neither team was able to move the ball in the third quarter; three Wabash drives were thwarted by two fumbles and an intercepted pass. Trailing late in the fourth quarter, Wabash got the ball on their own 25 yard line. In a spectacular finish Joe Sabatini personally made 75 yards on beautifully executed off-tackle slants; running from the Wabash 43 on a fourth and ten situation, Sabatini picked up 20 yards, helped by almost perfect blocking, on the crucial play of the drive. Several plays later Sabatini carried the ball into the end zone to give Wabash a 12-7 victory.



Halfback Dick White snares a Folta pass against hapless Kalamazoo.

Homecoming found the Little Giants slogging it out with the Battling Bishops of Ohio Wesleyan on a cold, rainy afternoon. The hardy fans that saw the whole game witnessed bone-jarring tackles and rugged football not too often seen. Although Wabash came out on the short end of the 6-0 score, the determined line-play under most adverse conditions was one of the highlights of the season.

Big Red returned to the win column by beating the Bradley Braves for the second year in a row. McHenry, Hughes, and Polizotto each scored six pointers. Polizotto threw to White for the fourth touchdown. Hamsher picked up the first two-point conversion and Hay tossed to Hughes for the second two-pointer. Final: Wabash 28, Bradley 24.

Fumbleitis hit Wabash in a 10-0 loss to Valparaiso's Crusaders. Anderson and McHenry accounted for nearly all of Wabash's ground yardage. The Little Giants missed several scoring opportunities in the second half through fumbles and failure to take advantage of Crusader mistakes. The shutout was only the third for Frazier-coached Wabash teams.

The 1959 version of the Monon Bell classic marked one of the most bitterly fought contests in the history of the series. The season's finale confirmed the unpredictability of the Wabash-DePauw game. Wabash, the favorite, moved the ball well on the ground and caught the DPU secondary napping with unexpected passes, but the DePauw defense stiffened when deep in their own territory.

Penalties stopped the first Wabash penetration, led by "Sab," White, and McHenry, at the DePauw 34 yard line. After the first of several DPU field goal attempts, the Big Red marched 80 yards in 19 plays for the first touchdown of the game. Sabatini's off-tackle smashes and McHenry's running on the option play provided most of the yardage; Sabatini scored from the three.

Carlos Carroll personally stopped a DPU drive to the Wabash 23 yard line by throwing the Tiger quarterback for a 14 yard loss. Wabash took posession and moved to the DePauw 29 before losing the ball on a fumble. A sustained DePauw drive was stopped by Hamsher at the 15 yard line on an interception. Wabash moved the ball to their own 32 where Mike Hughes took the handoff on a double reverse and outran the entire DePauw team only to have the touchdown called back for a holding penalty. On the next play DPU recovered a Wabash fumble on the 22, but another pass interception, this time by Polizotto, denied DePauw's effort.

In the third period DePauw tied the score at six-all. Late in the four quarter a 68 yard Sabatini punt put the hosts deep in their own territory. The Wabash defense pushed DPU back and the Tigers kicked out to their own 47 yard line. With Polizotto at the helm, the Little Giants moved to the 10 yard line on runs by Sabatini, Hamsher, and Polizotto. Sabatini carried twice, moving the ball to the 3 yard line. Hamsher drove to the two. In a fourth down situation and with less than 15 seconds to go, Hamsher hit the middle of the line only to be stopped six inches short of a Little Giant victory.

Junior tackle and end, Brian Bragg was selected as the Most Valuable Player and one of the two Honorary Captains. Senior quarterback Scotty Polizotto was also selected as Honorary Captain by his teammates. Junior end Denny Holmes received the Most Improved Player award and junior tackle Carlos Carroll was given the Sportsmanship award.

Tom Bennett drives in against Illinois Tech, to up his all-time scoring record by two more points. Stan West stands by for action.

A big "question mark" hovered over the Wabash cagers as the 1959-60 season began. With only four lettermen and two starters returning from the previous year, coach Bob Brock had to find a front line to replace the 705 points scored by Wedgeworth, Hollett, and Franz the previous year. However, the five were quickly found and the 'question mark" erased as the Wabash squad piled up a 13-6 record for the season, the best record since 1943. For the third consecutive year Wabash found itself with a bid to the NCAA tournament for small colleges. The 1959-60 campaign was also highlighted with high scoring games, broken records, and the annual grudge games with DePauw and Butler.

Leading the way for the young squad, which loses only two men this year, were guards Charlie Bowerman and Tom Bennett, forwards Don Engler, Frank Cassell, Bill Boone, and Rusty Nichols, and center Jim Cumming. Rounding out the rest of the team were junior center Charlie West, sophomores Bob Templin, and Jim Johnson and freshmen Bill Wilson, Joe Beal, and Bob Hainje.

The Brockmen opened the season at home with a smashing 84-61 victory over Chanute Air Force Base. Then the squad traveled to Butler, for the annual rivalry meeting between the two clubs, and suffered a 62-55 setback by the highly rated Bulldogs. Led by Bennett's 34 points, the cagers murdered an Indiana Central team by a 109-69 score. After a 67-58 win over Illinois Tech, a contest held in Tech's "cracker box" gym, Wabash returned home to squeeze out a 84-82 victory over St. Joseph's. During this close contest, the all-time Wabash scoring record of 1123 points, previously held by Ben Fellerhoff, was broken by Tom Bennett. The shifty, little guard now holds the record with 1386 points.

In another big rivalry meeting, Wabash humiliated DePauw in an 86-55 stomping held at the Wabash gym. Led by Engler and Bowerman, the Little Giants jumped off to an early ten point lead and by half-time had piled up a 19 point margin. Traveling to St. Louis, the squad closed 1959 with a 80-68 victory over Washington of St. Louis. Returning from the holiday vacation with an impressive 6-1 record, the Little Giants journied to Jacksonville, Illinois, where a fired up MacMurray crew surprised them with a 69-64 setback.

Recovering quickly, the squad returned home to chalk up a 79-70 victory over Ball State. High-ranked Wheaton next visited the Wabash gym and was surprised by an ambitious Wabash squad. Led by Bowerman, who baffled the visitors with his spectacular dribbling and ball-handling, the Little Giants wracked up a 87-79 win. After two fairly easy wins away from home over Earlham (96-87) and University of Illinois, Chicago Branch (82-70), the Wabash team, with a 10-2 record, returned home for the second meeting with Butler.

After battling through five overtimes, Wabash emerged victorious by a two point margin, 110-108. Five records were set that evening. Bowerman scored 53 points, erasing the old gym record of 43 set by Bennett in 1957. This was also the most points ever scored against Butler by an opposing player.

The Little Giants' high hopes were jolted as the end of the season approached and the second round got under way. Apparently jinxed by the Butler ordeal, the squad dropped four of the last six encounters; three of these defeats went to teams the Big Red had beaten previously in the year. After a Friday night defeat at the hands of North Central, Wabash traveled to Wheaton on Saturday night where they suffered their worst defeat of the season and the second worst defeat in Wabash history. Wheaton gained resounding avenge over the floundering Little Giants by a 97-48 score. Carrying a .454 shooting average into the game, they could do no better than a puny .223. Next to strike a blow was St. Joseph's, avenging their earlier loss by edging Wabash

The freshmen basketball team, under the direction of Dom Moselle, had a winning season with a 5-3 record, although three key members of the squad were moved up to the varsity. The rhyne cagers were: Nickerson, Bornman, Nichols, Jeffries, Dziubinski, Klug, Owens, Bill Wilson, Cassell, Dickerson, Dave Wilson, Thompson, Woodfill, Beal, and Pride.

Returning home from the discouraging road trip and longest losing streak of the season, the Brockmen jumped back into the winning column with a 85-69 win over Illinois Tech and a 105-67 massacre of the MacMurray squad. This brought Wabash into the final game of the regular schedule—the 100th meeting with DePauw. After leading throughout most of the game by two or four point margins, DePauw knotted the score in the closing seconds to send the game into an overtime. At the end of the second overtime, Wabash was on the short end of the 80-78 score.

With an impressive 13-6 record, Wabash headed for Evansville and the NCAA Small College Basketball Tourney. Two years ago the Little Giants took third in this same regional play-off, dropping a double overtime decision, 70-68, to Evansville who at that time was ranked fourth nationally. After running over Buffalo College by a 81-65 score with a second half scoring surge in the opening game, Wabash met Evansville—this time the number one small college team in the nation. At the half the score was tied, 44-44, and in the opening minutes of the second half Wabash jumped to a 50-44 lead. However, Evansville caught fire and built up a commanding lead which ended in a 89-68 defeat for Wabash. Evansville went on to win the national championship. Bowerman scored 56 points in the tournament and was selected to the all-tourney first team.

At the close of the season, senior Tom Bennett, a regular for four years, was chosen captain of the 1959-60 basketball team and Bowerman was given the Most Valuable Player award. Most Improved player honors went to freshman Rusty Nichols who scored the winning basket against Butler and provided badly needed front line support at the close of the season. Every man of the squad received a letter, which means next year's team will see ten returning lettermen, four from the starting five.

TRACK

The 1959 cindermen added another bright page to Wabash track history. The North Central Indoor Meet began the season, with Wabash taking an over-all fifth place. The 20 lap relay team of Walt Inman, Jerry Robinson, Ron Reinhart, and Warren Hall placed first in that event and fourth in the 12 lap relay.

Indiana Central was the first Wabash victim in dual meet competition. A loss to Ball State followed the Wabash Relays. This was quickly rectified by beating unofficial Wabash Relays champ, Hanover. The highly-competitive Drake Relays saw Mike Hughes, Walt Inman, Ron Reinhart, and Warren Hall win sixth place in the distance medley and then with Grant VanHorne replacing Hughes, the same team took sixth in the two-mile relay.

DePauw was next to fall before the cindermen. The Little Giants finished strong in the Beloit Relays, dominating the middle and long distances. The two-mile relay team set a new record of 7:52 and the mile relay team set a record of 3:27.7. The 880 relay team took second, VanHorne placed third in the two-mile, and the sprint medley team grabbed fourth place. Wabash placed fourth in the Big State meet behind Notre Dame, Indiana University, and Purdue. A loss to Butler in dual competition preceded the second consecutive Little State championship for Wabash. In the Little State competition VanHorne set a new two-mile record at 9:34.2 and Greg Woodham established a new high-jump record at 6′1¾″. Woodham's jump also set a new Wabash mark.

The beginning of the 1960 track season left something to be desired—weatherwise. Rain, snow, and cold weather prevented outdoor practice until immediately before the first meet. In the first competition of the year Wabash placed second in the Midwest Relays, only 1/3 of a point behind winner Cornell of Iowa. The 20 lap relay team of Robinson, Reinhart, VanHorne, and Hall ran away with first place. The other Wabash gold medal went to Max Richey in the pole-vault.

Wabash placed an unofficial second at the Association Relays, while winning two first places. The distance medley combination of Hughes, VanHorne, Robinson, and Hall won as did the two-mile squad of Huff, VanHorne, Robinson, and Hall. The formidable team of Robinson, Reinhart, VanHorne, and Hall traveled to Austin for the Texas Relays, placing third in the 4-mile relay against top-flight competition.

The first dual meet of the year saw Wabash bounce Indiana Central 101-33, taking 12 first places and tying for another. Max Richey set a new college record with a 12′11″ performance in the pole-vault. In the second dual meet to date the Wabash thinlies smothered Ball State 91-45, taking 11 of 16 firsts. Outstanding performances were turned in by Robinson and VanHorne in the distances and by Sabatini in the shot-put. Juniors Denny Holmes and Hughes took firsts in the 100 and 220 respectively. Continuing their winning ways, the cindermen clobbered Hanover, 98-19. Wabash men took 13 firsts and 11 seconds of the thirteen events; rain prevented further humiliation. Scoring in all but two events, Wabash compiled an early lead in the field events and used its superior power in the distance runs to win the six team Great Lakes Invitational. Wabash piled up five firsts and a first in the mile relay in beating the nearest opponents by fourteen points. With good weather now at hand and individual performances improving, the 1960 track should repeat if not surpass the fine records of the past three years.

Coach Owen Huntsman, originator of the Wabash Relays.

WABASH RELAYS

The seventh annual Wabash Relays found the host school dominating the field of thirteen colleges and universities, as Big Red trackmen took four firsts, four seconds, and one third. Four Relays records were broken and one all-time Ingalls Field record was set, in spite of cold weather and the poor condition of the track.

In the first event of the afternoon the Little Giant two-mile relay team of VanHorne, Robinson, Hall and Reinhart set a new Relays mark at 8:01.1, bettering the old record by 2.5 seconds. Wabash's Max Richey produced the highest pole vault of the day, but DePauw's pole vaulters combined for 35′3″ to better the old record by six inches.

Butler Bulldogs contributed two new records with a 17′8½″ performance in the high jump and a 67′4½″ performance in the broad jump. Butler's Steve Abbot, voted outstanding athlete of the relays, set a new Ingalls Field record with a leap of 24′3½″ in the broad jump.

Little Giant Joe Sabatini put the shot 42′ 11½″ for the individual high of the day, but his effort was not enough; Indiana Central won the event with 127′6½″. Tom Lauritzen led the Wabash javelin men to another first place with a throw of 171′4″. The total distance of the three-man squad was 469′3″.

The most exciting race of the day proved to be a disappointment to the majority of spectators although Wabash crossed the tape first. Running the final 440 of the sprint medley, Wabash's Denny Gaughan amazed the crowd as he coasted on the back stretch until he was about ten yards behind, then with an amazing "kick" Gaughan streaked past the frontrunner to win going away. Dissappointment came with the announcement that Wabash had fouled on a baton exchange.

The distance medley relay found Wabash in front with a good 10:57.2 time. The final Wabash win came in the mile relay with a 3:28.5 performance.

Coach Huntsman, the originator of the unique Relays, suffered a heart attack in March. Although Wabash fared well in the competition, the absence of Owen Huntsman from his own creation was conspicuous.

Max Richey goes up and over in the form that produced the highest vault in the Relays.

BASEBALL

Ten lettermen and a host of new faces turned out for the opening day of baseball practice this year. After breaking even last year with a 5-5-1 record, coach Red Kenney looked for an improvement or at least reduplication of last year's record. But with the loss of last year's two starting hurlers and vacancies at second and third, coach Kenney had no predictions as the season started.

In compiling their 5-5-1 record last year, the diamond-men took wins from St. Joseph's, 19-7 and 8-7; DePauw, 17-3; Butler, 7-5; and Louisville, 2-1. The five losses were at the hands of Indiana Central, 6-5; Notre Dame, 12-1; Indiana, 18-2; Indiana State, 10-2; and Louisville, 3-1. The tie was a 3-3 affair in the second game of a twin bill at St. Joseph's.

Returning from last year's squad were lettermen John Birdzell, Mike Blackmore, Bill Boone, Charlie Bowerman, Rudy Folta, Jim Heckman, Fred Schue, Dick White, and Chris Witteveld. Other men back who saw action last year were Ken Parmalee, W. K. Lippard, and Ron Warnicke. Some of the new faces on the team this year included Tom Freeman, Lee Nickerson, Tom Billings, Joe Beal, Rusty Nichols, Bill Owens, and Pete Hedges.

The big problem was at the mound. The loss of last year's two starting pitchers left a big

In the opening contest coach Kenney sent in 18 men in an attempt to find an effective combination. With the help of a three-run homer by Schue and consistent pitching from the entire pitching staff, Wabash edged out Indiana Central 6-5. After a humiliation at the hands of Purdue, Wabash traveled to Indiana State. Although the Little Giants collected nine hits, five of which were triples, they absorbed their second defeat, 7-4.

With 16 games remaining on the schedule, Big Red has ample opportunity to turn in a winning season. Improvement of the pitching staff as the season progresses, combined with the healthy hitting already displayed, could easily bring fulfillment to coach Kenney's aspirations.

gap in the pitching roster, but southpaw John Birdzell and righthanders Mike Blackmore and Dick White were expected to come through on the mound. Freshman Tom Freeman was also expected to see action.

Two positions were settled and two up for grabs on the infield. Bowerman started at first, while last year's MVP, Witteveld, held down short for the third consecutive year. Other contenders for infield positions were Nickerson, Billings, Perdew, and Lippard. Backing up two year letterman Bill Boone behind the plate was sophomore Warnicke. The outfield looked strong with two year lettermen Heckman and hardhitting Schue returning. Parmalee and Ritter, both seeing action last year, vied for the other outfield starting position. -

Coach Red Kenney gives first-sacker Charlie Bowerman a batting tip.

WRESTLING

Coach Fred Pipin started the season with good prospects; but the loss of key members of the squad through transfer and injury as the season progressed, predestined an uphill fight for a winning record. The matmen closed with a 4-5 season record and placed third in the Little State meet, only five points out of first place.

A Wabash team composed of five freshmen and three sophomores competed in a quadrangular meet and in the Wheaton Invitational. Freshman John Doherty placed fourth at Wheaton; Doherty was also high scorer for the team during the season and placed second in the Little State meet.

Sophomore Pat Haney was chosen Captain and Most Valuable Wrestler by his teammates; Haney captured the championship in his weight division at the Little State meet and was voted the Outstanding Wrestler of that event. Wabash also nailed down two second places and one third place at the Little State meet.

Captain Pat Haney takes to the offensive.

Next year's prospects call for improvement over this year's record. Weak on experience this year, a young but veteran crew will return next year attempting to recapture the Little State crown.

CROSS COUNTRY

In closing the 1959-60 season, the thin-clads brought the three-year record to 31 wins, 2 losses, and one tie. Wabash downed Kalamazoo 21-37 in the first meet, with Jerry Robinson out-stepping Warren Hall, 15:32 to 15:43. Big Red achieved the "perfect win" in beating Indiana Central, 15-50. Robinson again copped first and was followed by Hall, Ron Reinhart, W. K. Lippard, Wayne Cobb, Bill Davis, and Al Huff. Butler was next to fall before the onslaught of Big Red, 16-47. Hall finished first and Grant VanHorne, returning from military service, finished fourth.

Hall and Robinson finished one-two in a 16-47 victory over Ball State. Via Hall, Robinson, Reinhart ,and VanHorne, the Red swept past Wheaton, 18-41, Chicago, 16-46, and Loyola, 15-50 in a quadrangular meet. The Tigers from DePauw failed to put an end to the Wabash win skein, falling 17-43 as the same "big four" paced Wabash with Cobb taking seventh place.

Adding to their list of accomplishments at half-time of the Homecoming game, Wabash trounced Ohio Wesleyan, 15-46, and tied highly regarded Indiana University, 28-28, with Hall taking first. The only loss of the season was incurred at the hands of Miami of Ohio, 25-30; Hall again grabbed first place.

The Little State cross country meet saw Wabash establish three new records: three consecutive championships, lowest score ever recorded, and the first team to place four men in the first five. Hall ran the course in 20:19, bettering the old record by 9 seconds. Reinhart was second, Robinson-third, VanHorne-fourth, and Huff-seventh. In the same race the Big State title was decided, Wabash finished third behind Indiana University and Notre Dame. Hall's 20:19 was the winning time. In the over-all standing Reinhart placed ninth and Robinson tenth.

In the small college NCAA cross country meet, Hall took sixth place to pace Wabash to an over-all third place. The season record closed at 10-1-1. The inspired, and apparently effortless, running of senior Warren Hall will remain as a standard of excellence in Wabash cross country history.

GOLF

Taking over as mentor of the Wabash golf team this year was Fred Pipin. As the season got underway, one returning letterman, two 1959 returnees, and a number of new faces made up the team roster. Five men graduated from last year's squad which piled up an impressive 13-5 record. Hampered by bad weather as well as inexperience, coach Pipin concentrated on a rebuilding program.

The only returning letterman was senior Tom Bennett, voted last year's Most Valuable Player. Other men back who saw action last year were Joe Kiley and Tom Emmick. Newcomers to the squad were senior Don Good, junior Jim Davidson ,sophomore Walt Blackburn, and freshmen Tom McGee and Warren Ford.

In their first match of the season the Wabash linksmen won over a North Central team but lost to the third member of the contest, Indiana Central, by one stroke on a last hole eagle. Nine matches remained on the schedule which ended with the Little State tournament at Ball State.

TENNIS

In a bid for their second consecutive winning season, the Wabash tennis squad entered their 1960 schedule with a young and inexperienced team. Only two lettermen returned from last year's squad which ended the season with a 6-3 record. However, twenty-two men answered coach Bob Brock's call for tryouts. Competition for starting positions was extremely keen, although unusually bad weather limited practice sessions. Helping returning lettermen John Johnson and Tim Talbott with most of the burden were junior Joe Davis, who saw considerable action last year, Gary Jouris and Dave Rose, also holdovers from last year. New men on the squad this year who will probably see action are junior Austin Brooks, sophomore Terry Anderson, and freshmen Charles Brandt, Steve Jay, and Fred Speers.

Opening the season at Butler, the Wabash netters next moved on to Indiana Central. Following was the annual clash with old rival DePauw. Concluding the team schedule for 1960 were newcomer Wheaton College, Indiana State, Butler, and two matches with Marion. Individual members of the team competed in the NCAA college division tournament held at Kalamazoo, Michigan.

INTRAMURALS

The Phi Gams finally nosed out the Delts in the 1958-59 IM race, 206½ to 192, on the strength of an unbeaten softball team led by Don Priebe. Finishing behind the front-runners in order were: Phi Delts, Betas, Sigs, Phi Psis, Kappa Sigs, Wol-mor, Lambda Chis, Kin-Kan, and Faculty.

In the 1959-60 issue, the Sigs captured the football title and tied the Delts for the cross country trophy. The Sigs went on to nail down the volleyball championship. The Phi Delts passed through the regular season and All-Star game with an untarnished record to cop the basketball title. With the completion of these sports and going into the final leg of the race the Sigs were leading, the Phi Delts second, the Betas third, and the Kappa Sigs fourth. The Phi Psis held fifth place, the Delts were in sixth, the Phi Gams in seventh, and Kin-Kan occupied eighth. Lambda Chis, Wol-Mor, and the Faculty completed the list in that order.

With the softball season starting and an outdoor track meet schedule the race is still undecided. A strong Phi Delt show in softball could easily close the gap. Golf and various minor sports have not been reported to date.

Phi Delt Dave Kohne drops in another basket as the champs down the Kappa Sigs in the final game of the season.

RESIDENCES

Approximately two-thirds of the Wabash students make their homes one of the eight fraternity houses. The other one-third finds residence in one of the five college dormitories, at home, or in private rooms. Athletics and scholarship provide two areas for rigorous competition between the various living units.

BETA THETA PI

The men of Beta Theta Pi have completed another successful year on the Wabash campus, maintaining their usual high scholastic average, continuing as strong contenders in intramurals, and finding time for activities.

The Betas ranked first in scholarship in the spring of '59 and a close second in the fall of '59. Beta rhynes captured the Freshman Scholastic Trophy for the third time in the past four years. Bob Ashman, Wabash's sixth Rhodes Scholar, led a senior class of 17, all of whom will attend graduate school. The Betas were represented on nearly all varsity squads, being especially strong in track, baseball, and cross-country. In activities Betas were especially active in the Glee Club, Scarlet Masque, Alpha Phi Omega, and Public Affairs Forum.

Fred Scott was president during the first semester and John Bachman led the chapter through the second semester.

DELTA TAU DELTA

Delta Tau Delta, now approaching its nintieth year on the Wabash campus, remains one of the strongest chapters at Wabash. Active participation in athletics and activities, as well as consistently staying above the all-men's average, account for Beta Psi's high standing within the national fraternity.

Over one-half of the men in the Delt house are actively participating in freshman or varsity athletics. Although the Delts dropped from second place in the 1959 IM race, their teams continued to be contenders. Far from neglecting campus activities, Delts were especially active in Scarlet Masque, Glee Club, the Wabash and political groups; twenty officers of various campus organizations and three of the four student members of the Board of Publications made 506 W. Wabash their residence.

John Johnson served as first semester president and was succeeded by Austin Brooks in the spring term.

KAPPA SIGMA

Alpha Pi chapter of Kappa Sigma enjoyed one of its most successful years at Wabash during the past two semesters, with consistently high scholarship and participation in activities. For the first time in several years Kappa Sigs were found on most major athletic teams and improvement was seen in intramural athletics.

The Kappa Sigs won the new IFC Scholarship trophy in the 1959 fall competition with strong backing from the freshman class. In campus activities Kappa Sig's were prominent in debate, Glee Club, Scarlet Masque, political groups, and held the editorships of the Bachelor and the Wabash. During the year, new life was seen in the intramural program, leading to a current first division ranking.

Senior Dave Ammerman led the chapter during the fall semester with Jim Smerz succeeding as president in the spring.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

Lambda Chi Alpha, on the Wabash campus since 1918, has seen growth in membership and consistent improving in scholarship during the past year. The men from Jennison Street were seen in most major activities and sports.

Scholastically, the Lambda Chi's moved from fifth place one year ago to a second place tie in the fall semester. Eighty-five percent of the Lambda Chi pledge class were initiated into the fraternity. Lambda Chi's took special interest in the German Club, Public Affairs Forum, Scarlet Masque as well as other organizations. In varsity athletics Lambda Chi's were to be found principally on the football team and the track squad.

PHI DELTA THETA

The Wabash chapter of Phi Delta Theta began the year by receiving the Silver Star award for outstanding improvement and contribution to campus activities from the national fraternity. It has gathered no tarnish as Phi Delts continue to be quite active on campus.

In athletics the chapter was represented in all sports, with an abundance of men in football, basketball, track, and baseball. In intramurals the Phi Delts were in second place, on the strength of an undefeated basketball season, and within striking distance of first place going into the softball season. Although down from last year's third place in scholarship, the Phi Delts are on the upswing. On campus Phi's are active participants in Blue Key, Campus Center Board, Scarlet Masque, and W-Men's Club.

PHI GAMMA DELTA

Psi chapter of Phi Gamma Delta, approaching its ninety-fifth year at Wabash, is one of the largest fraternities and boasts men in all phases of college life. The Fiji Island weekend, held in a South Seas atmosphere of Hawaiian food, waterfalls, and sarongs, serves as one of the distinguishing features of the Phi Gams. The Fijis were recipients of a complete downstairs rejuvenation of their house, sponsored by alumni.

The Fijimen received the coveted Beta Graduate Cup for general scholarship, athletic and campus activities participation, from their national fraternity. In earning the Cup, the Phi Gam's had men participating in all activities, but mainly concentrating in cheer-leading, Scarlet Masque, Glee Club, Bachelor, and Wabash staffs. In athletics the Phi Gams copped the 1959 IM trophy and had several men on the football team as well as in other sports.

Dick Kite served as president of Phi Gamma Delta during the first semester; Joe Barnette was selected president in the spring term.

PHI KAPPA PSI

Phi Kappa Psi, although having the smallest Wabash fraternity membership, holds its own. During the past year improvement of scholarship and intramural athletics was realized. Alumni contributions provided the necessary funds for a house improvement program.

In intramural sports the Phi Psi's at press time, were in fifth place, mainly on the strength of the football team that placed six men on the Bachelor All-Star team. Campus activities-wise, the Phi Psi's are well represented in Blue Key, Pi Delta Epsilon, Alpha Psi Omega, Tau Kappa Alpha and Sphinx Club among the honoraries; Phi Psi's are also found working on the Bachelor, Board of Publications, Scarlet Masque, debate, and other organizations.

Phi Kappa Psi has been under the leadership of Chris Johnson and Lynn Kelley during the past year.

SIGMA CHI

Delta Chi chapter of Sigma Chi concluded another year at Wabash with strong athletic participation, although dropping in scholarship in the fall of 1959. The men residing at 515 W. Wabash were active in every phase of college life on the Wabash campus.

In athletics the Sigs were to be found on all varsity teams—especially basketball. The Sigs were leading the IM race at press time, having won the football and volleyball championships, tying for first place in the cross country meet, and placing second in the basketball competition. Sigs were to be found this year in most campus activities, especially prominent in the Glee Club, Tom Marshall Club, Bachelor, Caveman, and band.

Leading Sigma Chi during the past two semesters were senior Ed Johnson and junior Jim Wood.

WALCOTT and MORRIS

Seventy men are housed in the college's two all-most new dormitories, Walcott and Morris Halls, occupied since 1954. Morris Hall is a memorial to Mr. E. M. Morris of South Bend and Walcott Hall is a gift to the college from the recently deceased Roger Walcott.

Wol-Mor, as the two dorms are called, competes in intramural athletics, although they did not fare so well this year. Walcott Hall maintained a high scholastic in the fall leading all dorms and fourth among all living units. Morris Hall led all dorms in the spring semester of 1959. Football and political groups were two of the major activities men from Wol-Mor participated in.

Although these dorms are not organized as such, many men in them are members of the IMA. The men in the dormitories eat their meals in the Campus Center, which has provided greatly improved service this year.

INDEPENDENT MEN

Two grous of men compose what is known as Kin-Kan on campus. Some are the men living in Kane, Kingery, and Scott dormitories (see preceding page); others live at home, in Mud Hollow, or in private rooms in Crawfordsville.

Kane, Kingery, and Scott provide living quarters for fifty men; these men shoulder, in the main, the Kin-Kan athletic teams. Scott House placed well in the 1959 spring scholarship race as did Kane House in the fall semester 1959.

These two groups of men are united through the Independent Mens Association and Kin-Kan athletic participation. The independents make the Campus Center lounges, game room, and Scarlet Inn their headquarters.

CLASS OF 1960

The men that passed down the Chapel aisle for the last time as undergraduates on June fifth, 1960, formed one of the outstanding graduating classes in Wabash history. Wabash is trully proud of the keen minds and the athletic prowess of the men that have represented her for the past four years. The men seen on the next pages have and will "spread the fame of her honored name."

An atmosphere of quiet reflection precedes the Precession.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Many people spend long hours in preparing a yearbook—this year was no exception. Few are recognized commensurate with their efforts. The editor would like to express his sincere thanks:

to first and foremost Ralph Haas for an excellent job on the photography and for his timely advice;

to the staff, headed by Jim Daniel, Jack Dawson, and Daryl Carpenter for pitching in at numerous times and saving the day;

to Dave Rose and his business staff for suppling the always needed funds;

to Helen Bunker and her staff from Olan Mills for their cooperation and patience in photographing the student body;

to Harold McDonald for drawing the sketch of President Trippet seen on the cover;

to Don Cole for permission to use his Wally Wabash cartoons;

to Jack Bundy and the S. K. Smith Co. for making the cover; to the G. R. Grubb Engraving Co. and Mr. G. R. Grubb, Jr. for helping to smooth out the late load of work; to Indiana Printing Co., Inc. for converting plates and copy sheets into a yearbook.

Along with these people, many others have put time, effort and talent in the 1960 Wabash.

Bob McElroy, Editor

TO WABASH

The pattern of good living in Crawfordsville was formed by Wabash College. And the college continues to nourish the life it shaped.
This atmosphere of learning and intellectual freedom had considerable influence on Donnelley's decision to establish a plant in Crawfordsville many years ago. It is this same atmosphere that makes us proud today to be citizens of the Town and neighbors of the College.
